ROBBERS STEAL TIRES AND TUBES

Get Away With 75 Casings and 50 Inner Tubes Valued at $400 at Homer Early Sunday

GARAGE AND OFFICE LOOTED

Residents of Town Make up Purse and Hire Detective to Follow Clues to the Robbery

Burglars made a big haul early Sunday morning at the Carr and Plummer garage in Homer, when 70 automobile tires and 50 tubes valued at $300 were stolen, and another theft in the office of the Arbuckle tile factory, netted the burglars five additional new cord tires, valued at $100.

The robberies were not discovered until early Sunday morning, but people living near the garage stated that they recall hearing voices and seeing a light around the garage at three o'clock.

The burglars, evidently being acquainted with conditions existing at the garage, entered the place through a rear window, and it is supposed that a truck was used in carrying off their loot.

The 70 tires were of all sizes, but were mostly Ford sizes, 30 by 3 1/2. The robbers cleaned the stock of tires on hands, leaving only four casings of larger size.

The fifty tubes also were of various sizes, and only six boxes were left on the shelf.

The new tires at the tile factory had just recently been delivered to Mr. Arbuckle, and they were left in the office. The door was forced open, and as far as could be determined, nothing else was stolen from the tile factory.

The garage is owned by Glenn Carr and Russell Plummer. People of Homer this morning donated a purse, and several clues will be run down by a detective, who will be hired for that purpose.

Sidney L. Hunt, county sheriff, was called early Sunday and was investigating the affair. The officers are of the opinion that the robbery was by local talent, because the robbers were evidently well acquainted with the fact that the tires were on hand, and especially about the tires at the tile factory.

The people who heard the voices and saw the light around the garage, did not think much of it, because machines stop at all times of the night for water, or minor repairs.

NEW PASTOR CALLED HERE

Invitation Extended To Bremen, O., Man By First Presbyterian Church

The Rev. Gibson Wilson of Bremen, Ohio, was called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church by the congregation Sunday morning. The call was moderated by the Rev. Von Toble, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Shelbyville, who was appointed for the purpose.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson has preached here twice and made a very favorable impression on the congregation, which has been without a pastor since last fall when the Rev. Walter Kunkle resigned.

MISS DAISY SIMMS IS DEAD AT MATOON, ILL.

Former Rushville Girl, Who Distinguished Herself in Y. W. C. A. Work, Dies After Brief Illness

GRADUATE OF HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Daisy Florence Simms, former Rushville girl and national industrial secretary for the Y. W. C. A., with headquarters in New York City, died at Mattoon, Ill., Saturday following a brief illness, according to a newspaper dispatch from Mattoon.

Miss Simms, who will be well remembered by many people in Rushville, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Simms, who moved from Rushville to Mattoon more than ten years ago. They last lived at 322 West Fourth street. The deceased was born at Homer.

Miss Simms spent her early life in Rushville and was graduated from the Rushville high school in 1890 or 1891, her friends here estimated today. She was about fifty years of age.

Miss Simms was a member of the Y. W. C. A., industrial committee which was sent to Europe in 1919 to investigate labor conditions among women in England and France.

The parents survive. She also had one sister, Eva, who died a few years ago. The deceased was a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at DePauw university, where she was graduated. The first recognition of her ability came when she was appointed national traveling secretary of the Y. W. C. A., which she held for many years. She was an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

AMERICA MAY YET MAKE VOICE HEARD

Washington Government Watching Closely Events in France—Consider Reed Resolution

SENATE WANTS TROOPS BACK

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 8.—The United States may soon again make its voice heard in European councils.

The Washington government is watching closely the events in France and it is believed certain President Harding will make at least one further move if war looms larger on the Rhineland horizon.

Despite that fact this government believes it did all that was possible under the circumstances recently in announcing its program to relieve the situation in Europe—the plans for a conference or a commission to recommend reparations figures with hopes of a loan to Germany to follow—the United States will state its opinion in some further way if matters become worse in Europe.

President Harding, Secretary of State Hughes and the American ambassador to England, George Harvey, today were considering the Reed resolution by which the senate declared that the American troops of occupation on the Rhine should be withdrawn.

While nothing is understood to be decided, the indications are that the administration will prefer to await an actual advance by France into the Ruhr before withdrawing the United States troops.

DEBT RAISED AT SUNDAY SERVICES

Close to $15,000 Pledged By 250 Persons At Christian Church To Pay For Improvements

GOAL OF $12,000 IS PASSED

Of Large Morning Congregation There Were Only 24 Who Attended Dedication 30 Years Ago

Close to $15,000 was raised at the two services at the Main Street Christian church Sunday to pay for improvements that have been made on the church, including the installation of a new heating plant, enlargement of the basement and improvements in the main auditorium of the church.

The sum raised represented pledges from approximately two hundred and fifty persons.

The work of obtaining enough money to meet the cost of the improvements, which amounted to about $12,000, was in charge of the Rev. Commodore W. Cauble of Indianapolis, who had charge of both services Sunday. Members of the congregation commented today that he showed himself a master hand at the art of raising money.

Next to the day of the original dedication of the church's present house of worship, Sunday was regarded as one of the great days and events in the history of the Main Street Christian church. Of the large audience present at the Sunday morning service, there were only twenty-four that were present at the dedication services thirty years ago.

The services of the opened with an attendance of nearly 700 in the Bible school. At 10:30 the Rev. Mr. Cauble had charge of the services. After a short but excellent sermon on "The worth of the Church," he began his appeal for money and pledges poured in faster than they could be recorded. Several times he had to slow things down and his blackboard was crowded with names and pledges when the services closed for dinner. At the evening hour a brief appeal was made again and when the record was completed for the day it was found that nearly 250 persons had pledged nearly $15,000 and that they had gone over the top handsomely.

But best of all was the splendid spirit of brotherly love that prevailed throughout the day according to members of the church, and it was a great day spiritually as well as financially for the congregation. There were three additions at the evening service.

The Rev. E. Richard Edwards of Logansport will begin a series of special meetings this evening. Song service will be led by Homer Cole commencing at 7:30 with the sermon at 8 o'clock. The general public is invited to these meetings.

Mr. Geraghty has been supervising director of the Long Island studio for several months, and his promotion is to a similar position at Hollywood, the main office, where he will have charge of the directing of all plays, which is a much more important position than the one held by him in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty have left New York for the Pacific coast, and are making the trip over the southern route, and will not touch Indiana.

VERDICT OF THE JURY SUSTAINED

Judge Freemont Miller Refuses Fred Clevenger New Trial and Sentences Him to State Farm

DEFENDANT TAKES APPEAL

Prosecuting Witness in Case, Blaine Fritch, is Arrested on Charge of Grand Larceny

Fred Clevenger, who was convicted by a jury last week on a charge of unlawfully selling liquor, was sentenced this afternoon about 2:30 o'clock by Judge Freemont Miller of Franklin, special judge in the case, who sustained the verdict of the jury of a fine of $400 and 5 months at the state farm.

The defense immediately filed a motion for a new trial, citing several instances where the court erred, and also where the jury erred, in rendering their decision. Judge Miller overruled the motion.

The defense then filed an appeal to the Supreme court of Indiana, and the motion was granted, giving 90 days time in order to file the necessary papers. In the meantime, he was released on bond, amounting to $1500.

An Indianapolis dispatch states that Blaine Fritch, age 41 years, 708 N. Alabama street, has been arrested by detectives on a warrant from Connersville, in which he is wanted for grand larceny. He is being detained in Indianapolis on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, and will be turned over to the Fayette county officers. The man under arrest was the prosecuting witness in the case against Clevenger, and is a former resident of this city. Officers from Connersville came here last week in an effort to locate him, but were directed to Indianapolis, it is said.

The court this morning before Judge Sparks, was occupied with a case in which Edward N. Phillips, administrator of the estate of Theodocia Phillips, against Charles M. Phillips, et al., was heard on a petition to sell real estate. The matter was taken under advisement by the court, after several witnesses were heard.

In the case of the state on relation of Stella Wall against John H. Passmore, a paternity proceeding, the relatrix was refused a new trial, as she had petitioned the court. At the former trial, the jury found for the defendant in the proceedings, and she asked for a new trial, which was refused today.

The court will hear all cases set for trial this week, as several minor matters are set for a hearing.

The jury has been called for service for next Monday, when the case of the state against Fred Clevenger, Jr., and Earl Clevenger, is set for trial. The two young men are charged with petit larceny, in connection with the alleged theft of meat from a slaughter house.

ESCAPES AFTER GUN BATTLE

Hollywood Gunman And Dope Peddler Cornered But Gets Away

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 8.—A gunman and dope peddler known as "The Rat," sought for months by the police, was cornered near the Chinese quarter by police today but escaped after a revolver battle.

"The Rat," believed by police to know the details of the William Desmond Taylor's murder and of distributing drugs among movie stars, was selling morphine when surprised by Patrolman Segat.

The gunman after a struggle with the officer broke loose, whipped out his gun and fired at pursuers as he dodged into a waiting automobile and was driven away by a confederate. None of the shots took effect.

SHOWS HOW MONEY IS TO BE SPENT

Report of Child Welfare Association Reveals Use for Proceeds From Charity Ball

TO BE GIVEN TUESDAY NIGHT

Elks Consent to Permit Use of Whole Building for Dance—Money to Cure School Children

A report of the Child Welfare association was made public today, showing the work done among the children of Rushville schools, and how the proceeds from the charity ball, to be given by the Tri Kappa sorority at the Elks club Tuesday night, will be used.

The Tri Kappas have been financing the work of the Child Welfare association, formerly the county board of children's guardians, for many years, and one of the chief means of raising money for this purpose was a charity ball, until no available place for one could be found.

The Elks, however, have consented to permit the use of their whole building, including the new club rooms and dance hall, for the charity ball, without any cost whatever, because of the charitable cause to which the proceeds will go.

The dance will begin at 8:30 o'clock with a grand march and admission will be at the east entrance by invitations which have been issued. The grand march will be led by the patronesses of the sorority and their husbands.

The report of the Child Welfare association is for three city buildings—Jackson, Washington, Graham Annex, as the Havens and St. Mary's schools have not been finished—and do not contain Jackson township children attending Rushville schools. It covers the work done since the association had the physical record taken in the schools last October.

The record for Washington school follows: Nineteen children with throat trouble, 14 with decayed teeth, six with defective noses, 19 with diseased glands, three with faulty nutrition, one with heart trouble, four with ear trouble, four with defective vision and two with goitre.

Nineteen of this number were placed on the Child Welfare association list as being unable to pay for the correction of these defects. Eight of the nineteen are to be taken care of for tonsilectomy and the remaining eleven are being cared for by the association through the family physicians.

Those in Washington school found to have none of the defects listed on the record cards are as follows: Louise Frazier, William Cruise and Alean Easley.

At the Jackson school the physical defects were as follows: Eighteen, general appearance; 16, nose; 169, throat; teeth, 97; glands, 179; heart, 8; lungs, 1; skin, 14; faulty nutrition, 31; ears, 19; eyes, 54; anemia, 11; flatfoot 1.

Forty-four were found to have no defects as listed on the physical record card and are as follows: Elmina Dungan, Dawson Beckner, Edna Ogden, Lewis Muster, George C. Wyatt, Jr., Louise Butler, Dora McFarlan, Robert McKibben, Norma Wells, Wilford Whittaker, Lee Randall, Bonnie Jean Moore, Geneva Gehring, Paul Denton, Edith Becraft,

HARRIS EXPECTED TO START RUMPUS

Lake County Representative Cocked And Primed To Set Off Explosion Over Appointments

WANTED EDUCATIONAL JOB

His Friends Say Textbook Interests Found Him In Contest—Legislature Reconvenes

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Representative J. Glenn Harris of Lake county was cocked and primed today for an explosion in the state house of representatives in protest against committee assignments reported to have been made by Speaker Raymond Morgan.

Harris was prepared to air the factional controversy exist in the narrow republican majority over appointment of the various committees. Harris wanted to be chairman of the committee on education, because Northern Indiana wants a normal school and he would be in a strategic position to help the matter along. But it was said Speaker Morgan would not give this berth to Harris.

Friends of Harris said the school textbook interests are fighting him in the contest.

Other troubles over committee appointments were also expected to bring first excitement to the house when it reconvened after a week-end adjournment.

In the senate things were going smoothly. Lieutenant Governor Branch was reported to have completed his committee assignments. His main difficulty is in finding personnel for the judiciary committees which usually are comprised of lawyers. There are only twelve attorneys in the senate.

Administration leaders in both senate and house were circulating among their followers trying to keep them in line so that the bills suggested by the governor and republican party members will have easy sailing.

The democrats on the other hand were seeking to stir up dissension in the G. O. P. ranks as a means of combatting some of the administration proposals to which they are opposed.

This was the discontent aroused by committee appointments and was led by Representative Harry Rowbottom of Evansville. The committees to which bills will be referred will be announced as soon as Speaker Raymond Morgan of Knightstown completes the list, but information going the rounds of the legislation revealed the possibility that the speaker might assign certain members to committees on which they did not desire to serve and fail to appoint others to desirable places.

Rowbottom had been under the impression that he was to be awarded chairmanship of the "plunder" committee which distributes patronage and was disgruntled when Representative Luke Duffy of Indianapolis was awarded this "plum".

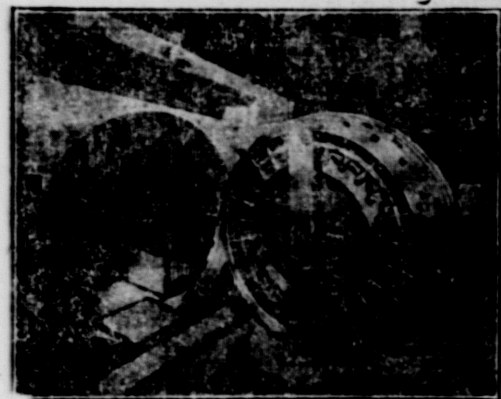

The situation in the senate was different however with the republicans holding a 32 to 18 majority.

Despite the governor's request for enactment of laws, there were indications that the session would be besieged with the usual overwhelming number. It seemed that every member had "a little bill some of the boys back home wanted me to introduce." In addition to these, other measures will be coming up constantly.

Supporters of the governor however were determined to push through the bills he proposed which would put a 2 cents tax on each gallon of gasoline, boost the motor vehicle registration fees, revise the education survey, amend the tax law to give more power to the tax board and combine all state funds into two—a general and a tuition fund.

FLOCK TO PURDUE FOR SHORT COURSE

Farm Men And Women From All Sections of Indiana Gather In Lafayette For Annual Meeting

OPEN SESSION IS HELD

Head Of State Farmers, G. I. Christie Of Purdue And Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith Are Speakers

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 8.—Farm men and women from all sections of Indiana, members of the various livestock, grain and vegetable producers' associations flocked to Purdue University today by the hundred for the opening of the 29th annual farmers' short course. Every train and car into Lafayette brought its quota and with an entirely new program, taken up in a different way the most successful course ever held is anticipated.

Entries in the state corn and potato show indicated they would far surpass any previous shows. The potato show now is nearly twice as large as last year and the preliminary entries of corn indicated a substantial gain. Judging will get underway today in both shows.

"Necessary Readjustments in Indiana Agriculture" was the theme for the opening session this afternoon with W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farmers' Federation; Director G. I. Christie of the Agricultural Experiment Station, and Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, of Lafayette, a leader of the farm women, as the speakers. They discussed the readjustment problem from different angles.

"Indiana farmers must have higher prices for their products," declared Prof. Christie, the first speaker. "In 1922 in Hancock county the actual cost of producing 100 acres of wheat was $1,886. The 1900 bushels of wheat sold for $1,824.00. 1110 hours of man labor were required to produce and market this crop. The loss equaled 5.6 cents for every hour the farmers worked."

"In face of high wages on railroads in the coal mines and in every line of industry farmers are dissatisfied. Country people are leaving the farm for town and high wages. The eastern states have gone through this experience with the result of many thousands of abandoned farms. It is hoped conditions will be such that Indiana farms will be able to keep and compensate in a fair way the strong active intelligent workers and continue to be the greatest wealth producing industry of the state."

He pointed out the strategic position of Indiana farmers from a marketing standpoint.

"Indiana is recognized as an important agricultural state because of geographical location, and food production. More than ten millions of people are living within a radius of 250 miles of Indianapolis—a sure continuous and active market for Indiana farm products is within easy reach of every county. Indiana has a wonderful advantage over states compelled to make long and expensive freight shipments."

"California ships to New York and Boston with a freight charge of nearly $800 per car. Oregon and Washington state farmers ship apples to Eastern points at a freight cost of $300 to $500 per car. Idaho potatoes shipped to Chicago carry freight charges of sixty cents per bushel."

"Indiana farmers produce successfully, economically, and in large quantities the principal foods used in the American home. Meat, wheat, milk butter, poultry eggs, vegetables and fruit. The program of production is fundamentally sound and should be continued. Every effort must be used to reduce production costs and widen the margin between the cost and selling price of farm products."

"Grain farming in Indiana is unprofitable. No longer can farmers afford to sell corn and hay and soil fertility and ship them away from the state. Livestock must be used to consume farm crops. In the fall of 1921 corn sold at grain elevators for 27 to 37 cents per bushel—this same corn when fed to hogs returned to the feeder one dollar per bushel. The soil fertility problem can be solved only by feeding the crops and retaining the fertility on the land."

Mr. Settle delivered an excellent address on farm problems and declared that "statesman and economists all agree that permanent prosperity in the U. S. can only return via the farm. If this be true, the farmer must first prosper before we may expect to see conditions materially improved. The farmer in most cases is not receiving cost of production for what he is producing while in many instances, the consumer is paying an unreasonable price."

Three points, production, transportation and marketing or distribution were enumerated by Mr. Settle as the factors entering into the present status of agriculture. He urged not greater but more economical production.

"The farmers and those interested in agricultural improvements have tried leaving the distribution of agricultural products to other people, and they have found the distribution attacked from the standpoint of profits which accrue to the distributor with little thought of those which will come for the producer," said Mr. Settle. "The closer the producer and consumer are together, the more certain we are to have a prosperous agriculture and contented people because the producer and consumers of agricultural products compose by far the greatest percentage of our citizens."

"No manufacturer could survive who trusted the marketing of his product to someone else. The same is true with the farmer. The farm is his factory, and he must market his own products," said the speaker in discussing co-operative marketing.

Mrs. Meredith made a strong plea for the employment of home demonstration agents in Indiana along with county agricultural agents and for a more prominent part in the schools by the women, especially married women.

Following her address, all at the short course were taken on a tour of inspection of the new Home Economics Building which has just been occupied.

Dean J. H. Skinner of the School of Agriculture, will be the speaker tonight. Regular class work in all sections starts Tuesday morning and the afternoon program will be devoted to The Indiana Farm Home and Its Improvement.

Renewed Testimony

No one in Rushville who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Rushville man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Rushville resident can doubt.

A. M. Younger, retired farmer, 828 W. 10th St., Rushville, says: "When a man gets as old as I, he is bound to have trouble with the kidneys. At times my back got weak and lame and there was a dull aching through the small of it. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage, causing me to get up at night. I used Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Johnson & Co.'s Drug store and they have never failed to relieve me."

"Rheumatism? Me? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glory again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twinges and swellings they used to have. I bend way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you." There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood-strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system strengthener, nerve invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, makes the flesh firmer. Start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

New Tariff Making Good

The dogmatic assertions of opponents of the Fordney-Cumber tariff law that it would paralyze our export trade have been absolutely dissipated by events which have transpired since the passage of the law, and which evince no disposition to be of transitory character. Secretary Hoover presented figures to the president and his cabinet recently showing that imports are increasing enormously, and exports are holding their own fairly well. Secretary Weeks stated to the Cabinet, on information received from port appraisers, that a hundred vessels loaded with European commodities were enroute to Boston, where the storage space of the port is already sadly overtaxed. The situation is such that we may soon expect to witness a large export of our gold surplus.

In presenting his survey of our foreign trade Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce called attention in his annual report to the gold situation of the world, the heavy drain of the metal to America having contributed to the instability of foreign currencies, "not only by the diminution of their essential guarantees, but also by the fluctuation of exchange involved in liquidating trade balances in this fashion."

"Our gold stocks," says the report, "amount to about $3,077,000,000. Of this, the minimum legal necessities at the moment for assurances to our currency and credits amount roughly to about $1,600,000,000, but for a 60 percent reserve of security we would require about $2,400,000,000. Therefore, our surplus amounts to somewhere over $700,000,000. While this is an asset it, nevertheless, would be more advantageous to us if it were in active use abroad. The automatic tendencies in our international trade and financial relations are, however, setting strongly toward rectification of this whole situation without artificial action. There is a steady increase in the ratio of imports over exports of goods, as indicated by the decrease in the average monthly balances in our favor over the last 21 years. * * * It would, at least, appear that the invisible exchange is able to take care of commodity balances and that we are reaching the end of the gold import stage of war readjustments. The theoretical assumption that the new tariff will so diminish our imports as to strangle the buying power of foreign countries for our exports does not seem borne out by a critical examination of the actual factors involved."

Mr. Hoover estimates the invisible exchange against this country as not less than $1,000,000,000 in 1920 and $1,400,000,000 in the fiscal year ended June 30th, last. It was made up of money spent by American tourists abroad, absorbent here of foreign loans, remittances of immigrants, losses by Americans in speculation in foreign currencies, money paid to foreign shipping interests for carrying and insuring our goods, etc.

That the new tariff law has stimulated, instead of discouraging exports is evidenced by the fact that our exports totaled $371,000,000 for November, the second month after the passage of the law, and a record month since Europe succeeded in replenishing stocks exhausted by the war. The opponents of the present tariff law have not a leg to stand on in support of their argument that the law would create a Chinese wall against foreign trade. The law has a flexible provision to take care of too great an influx of foreign goods, and it now seems almost certain that by 1924 the new law will have proved itself the best yet and will give administration opponents no campaign ammunition.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mrs. Frank Brown gave a delightful surprise party Saturday afternoon at her home in east Seventh street in honor of their daughter Juanita's thirteenth birthday. Seventeen little girls were present and many lovely presents were received. The dining room was beautifully decorated in red and white and lovely little favors tied with red and white ribbons were given to each guest, after they found them hidden away in various places in the house. Delicious refreshments were served and the afternoon was enjoyed with games and music.

OBITUARY

John Brown, born Sept. 17th, 1851—Died Dec. 4th. 1922.

Our friend and neighbor who so recently received the summons to "come home" and who lies before us sleeping so quietly and peacefully had endeared himself to all who knew him by his courage, patience, cheerfulness and interest in the welfare of others. His affliction borne so bravely for almost 24 years increased his sympathy for those suffering from illness or trouble, he did not allow himself to grow morbid however, but rejoiced in the good fortune or innocent pleasures of others. He tried to keep in touch with the events of the day and much of the current literature, and it was due to the untiring devotion of his beloved wife that the pages of many publications were spread before his mind's eyes. His habits of industry made work of some kind a seeming necessity and he was busy whenever his strength or weather conditions would permit. A neat and conveniently arranged cabinet in among the household articles that attest as to his patience and skill.

Mr. Brown was the only child of Charlotte and Daniel Brown, being born near Liberty, Union County., Sept. 17th, 1851, reaching the 71st year of his age last Sept. He attended school and church at the little town of Billingsville, and during service held by Henry R. Pritchard, he united with the Christian church of that place. 50 years ago he moved with his parents to the Fairview property where he had since lived. Previous to that time his mother, an excellent Christian woman, affectionately known to her many friends as "Aunt Lorta" lost her eye sight after intense suffering from neuralgia of the optic nerve. Her husband and son, assisted later by the son's family did all that could be done to comfort and cheer her during the 40 years of blindness that preceded her death which followed that of her husband.

Five years after coming to Fairview our friend was married to Miss Augusta Kreyenhagen of Riverside, Cincinnati, Ohio. And never was a man blessed with a more faithful helpmate. Two daughters, Lizzie May and Emma came as precious gifts to this home. The former however, died June 21st, 1884 leaving Emma now Mrs. Raymond Bowles to be the comfort and stay of her parents. Her efforts have been loyally supported by her husband and two young daughters, Vera and Mary Elizabeth. Mr. Brown changed his church membership with his residence and was an attendant at the Fairview Christian church whenever his health permitted.

He was a member of the Red Men Wawasa Tribe No. 193 and took great pleasure in the work and associations. His general health failed about 3 years ago having terminated 6 weeks ago into an almost helpless condition. Although every effort was made to sustain and prolong his life the death angel very quietly and gently bore his spirit away Thursday morning leaving lonely hearts that long for his presence. But the same Saviour that said "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest," also wept with Mary and Martha when death entered their home.

O deem not they are blest alone, Whose lives a peaceful tenor keep; For God, who pities man, hath shown A blessing for the eyes that weep. For God has marked each sorrowing day, And numbered every secret tear, And heaven's long age of bliss shall pay, For all his children suffer here."

New York, Jan. 8.—Ty Cobb's entrance into the .400 batting class last year by an official edict from Ban Johnson recalls several incidents of the past, when the quest for a few additional points in the averages caused more or less tricky maneuvers.

The famous contest between Nap Lajoie and Cobb several years ago, when an automobile was offered for the batting leader in both leagues, is one of the most quoted. In one of the games late in the season when they were running neck and neck, Lajoie got a flock of hits on bunts down the third base line. The guardian of the hot corner was playing way back in left field.

Another amusing story is told of the race this year in the National League. Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, was anxious to get into the .400 class and the St. Louis writers traveling with the team in Chicago were just as anxious to have their favorite make the mark.

Before the last game in Chicago, one of the St. Louis writers approached the official scorekeeper and in a round about way refreshed his memory on the rule that the batter should be favored in case of doubt that Rogers was a nice boy and that he wanted to bat .400, etc.

The official scorer admitted that Hornsby was entitled to consideration.

The first time up Rogers knocked the third baseman over with a drive. The second time he smashed a liner to center and the third time he doubled, whereupon the official scorer remarked to the St. Louis scribe: "Who in the —told you that bird needed any help?"

If the American League president

fears that the judgment of a sport writer as an official scorer might be influenced by personal feeling or partisanship, it might not be a bad idea to have his umpires give the decisions on a questionable hit.

Squire Charley Ebbets learned since the close of the season that Brooklyn has a ball club. It was only a suspicion until the Squire asked waivers on seventeen of the Brooklyn players and everyone of them was claimed by other major league clubs. It must have pleased the squire, even if they were tagged a dollar a dozen.

General sympathy has been extended to Arthur Fletcher, who has been imposed upon, with the management of the Philadelphia Nationals. Fletcher is a popular player and he deserved a better fate.

Philadelphia papers say that Fletcher should have demanded a long contract, but it is hard to see how any one but the kaiser should be penalized with such a job for more than a year.

Notre Dame's 1922 football eleven might have been called a team of captains. Five of the regulars were varsity leaders in other sports. In addition to Captain Carberry, the grid leader, there were Paul Castner, captain of the baseball team and twice captain of the hockey team; Gus Dush, captain of the track team and the world's record holder for the 440-yard hurdles; Mickey Kane, captain of the baseball team and Neil Flynn, captain of the hockey team. Twelve other men on the squad won letters in other sports.

Kane and Castner had several major league offers for baseball last year, but they decided to continue through the university.

TO MEET GREENSBURG "Y"

Arlington A. C.'s Will Take on Fast Aggregation Tuesday Night

The Arlington Athletic Club will meet the Greensburg Y. M. C. A. basketball team Tuesday evening at the Arlington gymnasium. This team has in its line-up R. Marlow, L. Marlow, C. Marlow, P. Meek, E. Clark, A. Richards, and L. Palmer, most of last year's Sandusky team.

The Marlow boys need no introduction to the Arlington community. This same bunch of players and the A. C.'s fought a real battle last year at Arlington, the latter defeating them by one point in an overtime game, and were fortunate to win.

This game is expected to be a close fast one. The A. C.'s are in fair condition with the exception of Tillison who is still on the sick list. A large crowd is expected as this is the first and probably only appearance of the Marlow brothers at the Arlington gymnasium this season.

MAY AMEND LIQUOR LAWS

Bill Is Planned To Make Second Offense A Prison Term

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Bootleggers, still operators and other violators of the prohibition law would suffer a serious blow under the provision bills prepared for presentation to the legislature today.

The bills are being sponsored by the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana and would make a second offense a felony instead of a misdemeanor punishable with a prison term of one to two years and a minimum fine of $200.

AMUSEMENTS

Band At The Princess

There are three great fistic battles in Jack Holt's new Paramount picture, which will be the feature at the Princess today and Tuesday. Holt's new Paramount picture, "While Sat-an Sleeps," no shadow-sparring, but the regular hit-and-no-miss stuff. The picture will tend to make Mr. Holt an even more athletic figure than he has previously been, for he already has quite an enviable reputation as a general all around horseman.

A special attraction will also be given at the Princess tonight and Tuesday, with the appearance of Miss Joy Marshall and her society Seven Band.

In the appearance of Miss Joy Marshall and her society Seven Band you receive one-half hour of pure "Joy." Miss Marshall is accredited with having the niftiest personality on the American stage and she certainly lives up to this reputation during this engagement putting over her song numbers with more pep than has ever been seen in Rushville before. She will truly delight you. Billie Mackie, violinist, is certainly a wizard in syncopation; you'll like his style. Fred Pharmer, the comedy cornet soloist, is a knock out, rendering several special numbers. The organization as a whole is wonderful.

NO CHANGE IN LAW

Reports to the contrary there has been no change in the law regulating taking fur bearing animals, and it is lawful to hunt, trap, kill and pursue them in this state until February 10, George N. TO MEET TUESDAY

St. Mary's school basketball team will play the Methodist church team at St. Mary's church hall, Tuesday evening. Two teams composed of smaller boys, one of the teams representing St. Mary's school, will meet in a curtain raiser.

Indianapolis Woman Declares Tanlac Completely Overcame Stomach Trouble of 15 Years Standing

"For fifteen years, I have suffered from indigestion and have taken all kinds of medicines, but I have never found anything to benefit me like Tanlac has," recently declared Mrs. Mary A. Day, a highly respected resident of 6524 Bellfontaine St., Indianapolis, Ind.

"After my meals, food would sour on my stomach and cause awful gas pains, bloating and smothering sensations. At times, I thought my heart would actually stop beating. It interfered with my rest at night so much that I was hardly ever able to get to sleep until midnight, and I was often unable to do my housework.

"A few days after I started on Tanlac, I noticed an improvement, and I was soon eating heartily and without feeling any distress. Since then, I have taken the medicine occasionally and it tones up my appetite and digestion every time. Tanlac is splendid and I believe it will overcome any kind of stomach trouble."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists.

Forty-two out of the total number defective in Jackson school were children whose parents are not able to pay for corrections. The parents of twelve of the 42 refused to let the Child Welfare association do anything for their children, the excuse being that they did not believe in surgery, or thought the child would outgrow the trouble.

The remaining 30 are being cared for by the association. On the advice of family physicians, 3 have been taken to Indianapolis hospitals for treatment; 3 others have been treated at Indianapolis clinics to ward off blindness; 5 have had surgical operations; 7 have had dentistry work done; 1 is on the waiting list at the Robert Long hospital to undergo an operation for double hernia.

The others are being cared for by the association as fast as possible.

Who Took the Vial From the Box?

CHAPTER VIII

Like a man who feels himself suddenly seized by the throat, yet who struggles for life, Sinclair cast one heartrending look toward the conservatory, then heavily demanded:

"Why were you out of your room? Why did they have to look for you? And who was the person who uttered the scream?"

She conformed him sadly.

"I was not in the room because I was troubled by my discovery. I think I had some idea of returning the box to the shelf from which I had taken it. At all events, I found myself on the little staircase in the rear when that cry rang through the house. I do not know who uttered it; I only know that it did not spring from my lips?"

"It was your aunt!" he whispered. "It was she who took the vial out of the box; who put it to her own lips; who shrieked when she felt her vitals gripped. Had you stayed you would have known this. Can't you say so? Don't you think so? Why do you look at me with those incredulous eyes?"

"Because you must not believe a lie. Because you are too good a man to be sacrificed. It was a younger throat than my aunt's which gave utterance to that shriek. Mr. Sinclair, be advised; do not be married tomorrow!"

Meanwhile I was pacing the hall without in a delirium of suspense. Suddenly I heard a hoarse cry break from within and saw the door fly open and Dorothy come hurrying out. She shrank when she saw me and soon was up the stairs and out of sight. I rushed into the library.

I found Sinclair sitting before a table with his head buried in his hands. In an instant I knew that our positions were again reversed. I dared not lay my hand on his shoulder.

He shuddered but did not look up, and it was minutes before he spoke. Then it all came in a rush.

"Fool! fool that I was! And I saw that she was consumed by fright the moment it became plain that I was intent upon having some conversation with Dorothy. Her fingers where they gripped my arm must have left marks behind them. But I saw only womanly nervousness where a man less blind would have detected guilt. Walter, I wish that the mere scent of this empty flask would kill. Then I should not have to reenter that conservatory door—or look again in her face, or—"

I asked with all the calmness possible:

"What is all this mystery? Why have your suspicions returned to Gilbertine?"

"Dorothy had the empty box; but the vial! the vial!—that had been taken by a previous hand. Do you remember the white silk train which Mr. Armstrong saw slipping from this room? I can not talk, Walter; my duty leads me there."

He pointed toward the conservatory. I sank into a chair. He advanced to the conservatory door.

But in another instant I was on my feet. I could hear him rushing about among the palms. Presently I heard his voice shout out the wild cry:

"She is gone! I forgot there was another door communicating with the hall."

I entered where he stood gazing down at an empty seat. Never shall I forget his face. To him this flight bore but one interpretation—guilt.

I found my way to my own room alone. I fell asleep very soon after, and did not wake till roused by a knock at my door. On opening it I confronted Sinclair, looking haggard and unkempt. As he entered the first clear notes of the breakfast bell could be heard rising up from the lower hall.

"I have not slept," he said. "I have been walking the hall all night, listening by spells at her door. God forgive me, but I have said nothing to any one of what has made this affair an awful tragedy to me! Do you think I did wrong? I waited to give Dorothy a chance. Why should I not show the same consideration to Gilbertine?"

"You should."

Be sure, when you give it to her, that she will have an opportunity of reading it alone. I shall request the use of one of the little reception-rooms this morning. Let her come there if she is so impelled. She will find a friend as well as a judge."

"I endeavored to express sympathy, urge patience and suggest hope. But he had no ear for words. I found the lower hall alive with eager guests and a few outsiders. News of the sad event was slowly making its way through the avenue and some of the Armstrong's nearest neighbors had left their breakfast tables to hear the particulars. Mr. Armstrong was nowhere in sight. For him the breakfast waited. I remained near the staircase waiting for some one to descend who could give me news concerning Miss Murray. But little Miss Lane would be sure to appear, she would listen to my questions and give me the answer I needed for the carrying out of Sinclair's wishes. But before her light foot-fall was heard, three men came down, one after the other, followed by Miss Armstrong. Two of them were the physicians who had been called in the night.

As Mr. Armstrong ushered them down the hall and out of the front door, many were the curious glances which followed them.

This filled me with a vague alarm. I was closely watching the door behind which Mr. Armstrong had vanished when it suddenly opened and I perceived that he had been writing a telegram. As he gave it to one of the servants he made a gesture and the summons rang out for breakfast. Young and old turned toward the dining-room, but the host did not enter with them. Before the younger of his guests could reach his side he had slid into the room which was set apart for the display of Gilbertine's wedding-presents. Instantly I lost all inclination for breakfast and lingered about in the hall. Mr. Armstrong approached from the side hall, and inquired if Mr. Sinclair had come down yet.

I assured him that I had not seen him and did not think he meant to come to breakfast, adding that he had been very much affected by the affairs of the night.

"I am sorry, but there is a question I must ask him immediately. It is about a little Italian trinket which I am told he displayed to the ladies yesterday afternoon."

If I Could Solder—

NEARLY every family needs some soldering done. Most of them don't know how to do it themselves, or where to go for the work. If I could solder, I would tell people I could mend their pots and pans, rain pipes and a score of other things.

This would bring work to me and assure me of a nice little income, so I would tell them at once. No use waiting for money. I would tell them with Daily Republican Want Ads.

DR. DRAGOO ON COMMITTEE

Executive Board Decided To Rein-
state Dr. Julian, Dr. Craig And
Dr Kixmiller, As Members

Reinstatement of Dr. J. L. Kix-
miller, ex-president of the association, and Dr. B. W. Craig dean of the Indiana Veterinary college, created a storm of applause from practically

all of the members of the association. Early last March the members of the executive committee composed of
Dr. A. B. Nivin, Crawfordsville, Ind.,
Dr. George M. Reynolds, Converse,
Ind., Dr. W. B. Massie, Boston Ind.,
Dr. C. L. Boor, Muncie, Ind., Dr. D.
D. Dragoo, Rushville Ind., and Dr.
Chas. E. Reed, Dunkirk, Ind.,
Dr. E. E. Cunningham, Valparaiso,
Ind., and Dr. C. E. Mummert, Young,
America, Ind., were called in special session by the secretary of the association. And during this session
Drs. Julien, Craig and Kixmiller were expelled indefinitely from the association, supposedly from political animosity resulting from the appointment of Dr. R. C. Julien to the office of state veterinary to succeed
Dr. L. E. Northrup and for favoring the farm federation in legislation. However no charges were made public other than that of "the violation of professional ethics." It was also claimed these men accused were never given an opportunity to appear before the committee in behalf of their defense. And when the action taken was placed before the association for its acceptance, a stormy session followed. The association members were almost unanimous in condemning the executive board for the hasty debate and unconstitutional action against these men and after a hot debate a number of various resolutions designed to return these ousted members to their places were greeted with shouting, clapping of hands and stamping of feet which the president had difficulty in controlling.

From these resolutions arose a motion that the executive committee rescind its action and these men be reinstated without further delay and that it be published in the press as had been done when they had been ousted. This motion was finally modified by dropping the word "reinstated" as the members contended that they had "really never been out of the association." This motion passed almost unanimously. Election of officers was held on Wednesday, electing, Dr. M. W. Scott

of Vincennes, Ind., as president, Dr.
R. H. Boyd of Indianapolis, secretary, and Dr. G. H. Roberts of Purdue University, treasurer. Following this, several good papers were read and a number of good lectures given. Among the prominent speakers were Dr. L. A. Merilat of Chicago, Drs. R. A. Craig and G. H.
Roberts and Mr. Hansen of Pur-
due University, Dr. T. A. Sigler, Greencastle, Ind., W. B. Massie Boston, Ind., Chas. W. Jewett Indianapolis, Ind. Lively and interesting lectures. A number of interesting discussions followed most of the clinics was held on Thursday at the Indiana Veterinary college. Veterinarians present from Rushville were

Dr. Fred Catt. Dr. D. D. Dragoo,
Dr. A. A. Mull and Dr. R. J. Hall.

ROBBERS STEAL TIRES AND TUBES

Get Away With 75 Casings and 50 Inner Tubes Valued at $400 at Homer Early Sunday

GARAGE AND OFFICE LOOTED

Residents of Town Make up Purse and Hire Detective to Follow Clues to the Robbery

Burglars made a big haul early Sunday morning at the Carr and Plummer garage in Homer, when 70 automobile tires and 50 tubes valued at $300 were stolen, and another theft in the office of the Arbuckle tire factory, netted the burglars five additional new cord tires, valued at $100.

The robberies were not discovered until early Sunday morning, but people living near the garage stated that they recall hearing voices and seeing a light around the garage at three o'clock.

The burglars, evidently being acquainted with conditions existing at the garage, entered the place through a rear window, and it is supposed that a truck was used in carrying off their loot.

The 70 tires were of all sizes, but were mostly Ford sizes, 30 by 3 1/2. The robbers cleaned the stock of tires on hands, leaving only four casings of larger size.

The fifty tubes also were of various sizes, and only six boxes were left on the shelf.

The new tires at the tire factory had just recently been delivered to Mr. Arbuckle, and they were left in the office. The door was forced open, and as far as could be determined, nothing else was stolen from the tire factory.

The garage is owned by Glenn Carr and Russell Plummer. People of Homer this morning donated a purse, and several clues will be run down by a detective, who will be hired for that purpose.

Sidney L. Hunt, county sheriff, was called early Sunday and was investigating the affair. The officers are of the opinion that the robbery was by local talent, because the robbers were evidently well acquainted with the fact that the tires were on hand, and especially about the tires at the tire factory.

The people who heard the voices and saw the light around the garage, did not think much of it, because machines stop at all times of the night for water, or minor repairs.

NEW PASTOR CALLED HERE

Invitation Extended To Bremen, O., Man By First Presbyterian Church

The Rev. Gibson Wilson of Bremen, Ohio, was called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church by the congregation Sunday morning. The call was moderated by the Rev. Von Toble, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Shelbyville, who was appointed for the purpose.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson has preached here twice and made a very favorable impression on the congregation, which has been without a pastor since last fall when the Rev. Walter Kunkle resigned.

MISS DAISY SIMMS IS DEAD AT MATOON, ILL.

Former Rushville Girl, Who Distinguished Herself in Y. W. C. A. Work, Dies After Brief Illness

GRADUATE OF HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Daisy Florence Simms, former Rushville girl and national industrial secretary for the Y. W. C. A., with headquarters in New York City, died at Mattoon, Ill., Saturday following a brief illness, according to a newspaper dispatch from Mattoon.

Miss Simms, who will be well remembered by many people in Rushville, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Simms, who moved from Rushville to Mattoon more than ten years ago. They last lived at 322 West Fourth street. The deceased was born at Homer.

Miss Simms spent her early life in Rushville and was graduated from the Rushville high school in 1890 or 1891, her friends here estimated today. She was about fifty years of age.

Miss Simms was a member of the Y. W. C. A., industrial committee which was sent to Europe in 1919 to investigate labor conditions among women in England and France.

The parents survive. She also had one sister, Eva, who died a few years ago. The deceased was a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at DePauw university, where she was graduated. The first recognition of her ability came when she was appointed national traveling secretary of the Y. W. C. A., which she held for many years. She was an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

AMERICA MAY YET MAKE VOICE HEARD

Washington Government Watching Closely Events in France—Consider Reed Resolution

SENATE WANTS TROOPS BACK

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 8.—The United States may soon again make its voice heard in European councils.

The Washington government is watching closely the events in France and it is believed certain President Harding will make at least one further move if war looms larger on the Rhineland horizon.

Despite the fact that this government believes it did all that was possible under the circumstances recently in announcing its program to relieve the situation in Europe—the plans for a conference or a commission to recommend reparations figures with hopes of a loan to Germany to follow—the United States will state its opinion in some further way if matters become worse in Europe.

President Harding, Secretary of State Hughes and the American ambassador to England, George Harvey, today were considering the Reed resolution by which the senate declared that the American troops of occupation on the Rhine should be withdrawn.

While nothing is understood to be decided, the indications are that the administration will prefer to await an actual advance by France into the Ruhr before withdrawing the United States troops.

DEBT RAISED AT SUNDAY SERVICES

Close to $15,000 Pledged By 250 Persons At Christian Church To Pay For Improvements

GOAL OF $12,000 IS PASSED

Of Large Morning Congregation There Were Only 24 Who Attended Dedication 30 Years Ago

Close to $15,000 was raised at the two services at the Main Street Christian church Sunday to pay for improvements that have been made on the church, including the installation of a new heating plant, enlargement of the basement and improvements in the main auditorium of the church.

The sum raised represented pledges from approximately two hundred and fifty persons.

The work of obtaining enough money to meet the cost of the improvements, which amounted to about $12,000, was in charge of the Rev. Commodore W. C. Cable of Indianapolis, who had charge of both services Sunday. Members of the congregation commented today that he showed himself a master hand at the art of raising money.

Next to the day of the original dedication of the church's present house of worship, Sunday was regarded as one of the great days and events in the history of the Main Street Christian church. Of the large audience present at the Sunday morning service, there were only twenty-four that were present at the dedication services thirty years ago.

The services of the opened with an attendance of nearly 700 in the Bible school. At 10:30 the Rev. Mr. Cable had charge of the services. After a short but excellent sermon on "The Worth of the Church," he began his appeal for money and pledges poured in faster than they could be recorded. Several times he had to slow things down, and his blackboard was crowded with names and pledges when the services closed for dinner. At the evening hour a brief appeal was made again and when the record was completed for the day it was found that nearly 250 persons had pledged nearly $15,000 and that they had gone over the top handsomely.

But best of all was the splendid spirit of brotherly love that prevailed throughout the day according to members of the church, and it was a great day spiritually as well as financially for the congregation. There were three additions at the evening service.

The Rev. E. Richard Edwards of Logansport will begin a series of special meetings this evening. Song service will be led by Homer Cole commencing at 7:30 with the sermon at 8 o'clock. The general public is invited to these meetings.

Mr. Geraghty has been supervising director of the Long Island studio for several months, and his promotion is to a similar position at Hollywood, the main office, where he will have charge of the directing of all plays, which is a much more important position than the one held by him in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty have left New York for the Pacific coast, and are making the trip over the southern route, and will not touch Indiana.

VERDICT OF THE JURY SUSTAINED

Judge Freemont Miller Refuses Fred Clevenger New Trial and Sentences Him to State Farm

DEFENDANT TAKES APPEAL

Prosecuting Witness in Case, Blaine Fritch, Is Arrested on Charge of Grand Larceny

Fred Clevenger, who was convicted by a jury last week on a charge of unlawfully selling liquor, was sentenced this afternoon about 2:30 o'clock by Judge Freemont Miller of Franklin, special judge in the case, who sustained the verdict of the jury of a fine of $400 and 5 months at the state farm.

The defense immediately filed a motion for a new trial, citing several instances where the court erred, and also where the jury erred, in rendering their decision. Judge Miller overruled the motion.

The defense then filed an appeal to the Supreme court of Indiana, and the motion was granted, giving 90 days time in order to file the necessary papers. In the meantime, he was released on bond, amounting to $1500.

An Indianapolis dispatch states that Blaine Fritch, age 41 years, 708 N. Alabama street, has been arrested by detectives on a warrant from Connersville, in which he is wanted for grand larceny. He is being detained in Indianapolis on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, and will be turned over to the Fayette county officers. The man under arrest was the prosecuting witness in the case against Clevenger, and is a former resident of this city. Officers from Connersville came here last week in an effort to locate him, but were directed to Indianapolis, it is said.

The court this morning before Judge Sparks, was occupied with a case in which Edward N. Phillips, administrator of the estate of Theodocia Phillips, against Charles M. Phillips, et al., was heard on a petition to sell real estate. The matter was taken under advisement by the court, after several witnesses were heard.

In the case of the state on relation of Stella Wall against John H. Passmore, a paternity proceeding, the relatrix was refused a new trial, as she had petitioned the court. At the former trial, the jury found for the defendant in the proceedings, and she asked for a new trial, which was refused today.

The court will hear all cases set for trial this week, as several minor matters are set for a hearing.

The jury has been called for service for next Monday, when the case of the state against Fred Clevenger, Jr., and Earl Clevenger, is set for trial. The two young men are charged with petit larceny, in connection with the alleged theft of meat from a slaughter house.

ESCAPES AFTER GUN BATTLE

Hollywood Gunman And Dope Peddler Cornered But Gets Away

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 8.—A gunman and dope peddler known as "The Rat," sought for months by the police, was cornered near the Chinese quarter by police today but escaped after a revolver battle.

"The Rat," believed by police to know the details of the William Desmond Taylor's murder and of distributing drugs among movie stars, was selling morphine when surprised by Patrolman Segat.

The gunman after a struggle with the officer broke loose, whipped out his gun and fired at pursuers as he dodged into a waiting automobile and was driven away by a confederate. None of the shots took effect.

SHOWS HOW MONEY IS TO BE SPENT

Report of Child Welfare Association Reveals Use for Proceeds From Charity Ball

TO BE GIVEN TUESDAY NIGHT

Elks Consent to Permit Use of Whole Building for Dance—Money to Cure School Children

A report of the Child Welfare association was made public today, showing the work done among the children of Rushville schools, and how the proceeds from the charity ball, to be given by the Tri Kappa sorority at the Elks club Tuesday night, will be used.

The Tri Kappas have been financing the work of the Child Welfare association, formerly the county board of children's guardians, for many years, and one of the chief means of raising money for this purpose was a charity ball, until no available place for one could be found.

The Elks, however, have consented to permit the use of their whole building, including the new club rooms and dance hall, for the charity ball, without any cost whatever, because of the charitable cause to which the proceeds will go.

The dance will begin at 8:30 o'clock with a grand march and admission will be at the east entrance by invitations which have been issued. The grand march will be led by the patronesses of the sorority and their husbands.

The report of the Child Welfare association is for three city buildings—Jackson, Washington, Graham Annex, as the Havens and St. Mary's schools have not been finished—and do not contain Jackson township children attending Rushville schools. It covers the work done since the association had the physical record taken in the schools last October.

The record for Washington school follows: Nineteen children with throat trouble, 14 with decayed teeth, six with defective noses, 19 with diseased glands, three with faulty nutrition, one with heart trouble, four with ear trouble, four with defective vision and two with goitre.

Nineteen of this number were placed on the Child Welfare association list as being unable to pay for the correction of these defects. Eight of the nineteen are to be taken care of for tonsilectomy and the remaining eleven are being cared for by the association through the family physicians.

Those in Washington school found to have none of the defects listed on the record cards are as follows: Louise Frazier, William Cruise and Alean Easley.

At the Jackson school the physical defections were as follows: Eighteen, general appearance; 16, nose; 169, throat; teeth, 97; glands, 179; heart, 8; lungs, 1; skin, 14; faulty nutrition, 31; ears, 19; eyes, 54; anemic, 11; flatfoot 1.

Forty-four were found to have no defects as listed on the physical record card and are as follows: Elmina Dungan, Dawson Beckner, Edna Ogden, Lewis Muster, George C. Wyatt, Jr., Louise Butler, Dora McFarlan, Robert McKibben, Norma Wells, Wilford Whittaker, Lee Randall, Bonnie Jean Moore, Geneva Gehring, Paul Denton, Edith Becraft.

HARRIS EXPECTED TO START RUMPUS

Lake County Representative Cocked And Primed To Set Off Explosion Over Appointments

WANTED EDUCATIONAL JOB

His Friends Say Textbook Interests Found Him In Contest—Legislature Reconvenes

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Representative J. Glenn Harris of Lake county was cocked and primed today for an explosion in the state house of representatives in protest against committee assignments reported to have been made by Speaker Raymond Morgan.

Harris was prepared to air the factional controversy exist in the narrow republican majority over appointment of the various committees. Harris wanted to be chairman of the committee on education, because Northern Indiana wants a normal school and he would be in a strategic position to help the matter along. But it was said Speaker Morgan would not give this berth to Harris.

Friends of Harris said the school textbook interests are fighting him in the contest.

Other troubles over committee appointments were also expected to bring first excitement to the house when it reconvened after a week-end adjournment.

In the senate things were going smoothly. Lieutenant Governor Branch was reported to have completed his committee assignments. His main difficulty is in finding personnel for the judiciary committees which usually are comprised of lawyers. There are only twelve attorneys in the senate.

Administration leaders in both senate and house were circulating among their followers trying to keep them in line so that the bills suggested by the governor and republican party members will have easy sailing.

The democrats on the other hand were seeking to stir up dissension in the G. O. P. ranks as a means of combatting some of the administration proposals to which they are opposed.

This was the discontent aroused by committee appointments and was led by Representative Harry Rowbottom of Evansville. The committees to which bills will be referred will be announced as soon as Speaker Raymond Morgan of Knightstown completes the list, but information going the rounds of the legislation revealed the possibility that the speaker might assign certain members to committees on which they did not desire to serve and fail to appoint others to desirable places.

Rowbottom had been under the impression that he was to be awarded chairmanship of the "plunder" committee which distributes patronage and was disgruntled when Representative Luke Duffy of Indianapolis was awarded this "plum".

The situation in the senate was different however with the republicans holding a 32 to 18 majority.

Despite the governor's request for enactment of laws, there were indications that the session would be besieged with the usual overwhelming number. It seemed that every member had "a little bill some of the boys back home wanted me to introduce." In addition to these, other measures will be coming up constantly.

Supporters of the governor however were determined to push through the bills he proposed which would put a 2 cents tax on each gallon of gasoline, boost the motor vehicle registration fees, revise the education survey, amend the tax law to give more power to the tax board and combine all state funds into two—a general and a tuition fund.

FLOCK TO PURDUE FOR SHORT COURSE

Farm Men And Women From All Sections of Indiana Gather in Lafayette For Annual Meeting

OPEN SESSION IS HELD

Head Of State Farmers, G. I. Christie Of Purdue And Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith Are Speakers

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 8.—Farm men and women from all sections of Indiana, members of the various livestock, grain and vegetable producers' associations flocked to Purdue University today by the hundreds for the opening of the 29th annual farmers short course. Every train and car into Lafayette brought its quota and with an entirely new program, taken up in a different way, the most successful course ever held is anticipated.

Entries in the state corn and potato show indicated they would far surpass any previous shows. The potato show now is nearly twice as large as last year and the preliminary entries of corn indicated a substantial gain. Judging will get underway today in both shows.

"Necessary Readjustments in Indiana Agriculture" was the theme for the opening session this afternoon with W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farmers' Federation; Director G. I. Christie of the Agricultural Experiment Station; and Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, of Lafayette, a leader of the farm women, as the speakers. They discussed the readjustment problem from different angles.

"Indiana farmers must have higher prices for their products," declared Prof. Christie, the first speaker. "In 1922 in Hancock county the actual cost of producing 100 acres of wheat was $1,886. The 1900 bushels of wheat sold for $1,824.00—1110 hours of man labor were required to produce and market this crop. The loss equaled 5.6 cents for every hour the farmers worked.

In face of high wages on railroads in the coal mines and in every line of industry farmers are dissatisfied. Country people are leaving the farm for town and city wages. The eastern states have gone through this experience with the result of many thousands of abandoned farms. It is hoped conditions will be such that Indiana farms will be able to keep and compensate in a fair way the strong, active, intelligent workers and continue to be the greatest wealth producing industry of the state.

He pointed out the strategic position of Indiana farmers from a marketing standpoint.

"Indiana is recognized as an important agricultural state because of geographical location, and food production. More than ten millions of people are living within a radius of 250 miles of Indianapolis—a sure continuous and active market for Indiana farm products is within easy reach of every county. Indiana has a wonderful advantage over states compelled to make long and expensive freight shipments.

"California ships to New York and Boston with a freight charge of nearly $800 per car. Oregon and Washington state farmers ship apples to Eastern points at a freight cost of $300 to $500 per car. Idaho potatoes shipped to Chicago carry freight charges of sixty cents per bushel.

"Indiana farmers produce successfully, economically, and in large quantities the principal foods used in the American home. Meat, wheat, milk, butter, poultry eggs, vegetables and fruit. The program of production is fundamentally sound and should be continued. Every effort must be used to reduce production costs and widen the margin between the cost and selling price of farm products.

"Grain farming in Indiana is unprofitable. No longer can farmers afford to sell corn and hay and soil fertility and ship them away from the state. Livestock must be used to consume farm crops. In the fall of 1921 corn sold at grain elevators for 27 to 37 cents per bushel—this same corn when fed to hogs returned to the feeder one dollar per bushel. The soil fertility problem can be solved only by feeding the crops and retaining the fertility on the land.

Mr. Settle delivered an excellent address on farm problems and declared that "statesman and economists all agree that permanent prosperity in the U. S. can only return via the farm. If this be true, the farmer must first prosper before we may expect to see conditions materially improved. The farmer in most cases is not receiving cost of production for what he is producing while in many instances, the consumer is paying an unreasonable price.

Three points, production, transportation and marketing or distribution were enumerated by Mr. Settle as the factors entering into the present status of agriculture. He urged not greater but more economical production.

"The farmers and those interested in agricultural improvements have tried leaving the distribution of agricultural products to other people, and they have found the distribution attacked from the standpoint of profits which accrue to the distributor with little thought of those which will come for the producer," said Mr. Settle. "The closer the producer and consumer are together, the more certain we are to have a prosperous agriculture and contented people because the producer and consumers of agricultural products compose by far the greatest percentage of our citizens.

"No manufacturer could survive who trusted the marketing of his product to someone else. The same is true with the farmer. The farm is his factory, and he must market his own products," said the speaker in discussing co-operative marketing.

Mrs. Meredith made a strong plea for the employment of home demonstration agents in Indiana along with county agricultural agents and for a more prominent part in the schools by the women, especially married women.

Following her address, all at the short course were taken on a tour of inspection of the new Home Economics Building which has just been occupied.

Dean J. H. Skinner of the School of Agriculture, will be the speaker tonight. Regular class work in all sections starts Tuesday morning and the afternoon program will be devoted to The Indiana Farm Home and Its Improvement.

Renewed Testimony

No one in Rushville who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Rushville man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Rushville resident can doubt.

A. M. Younger, retired farmer, 828 W. 10th St., Rushville, says: "When a man gets as old as I, he is bound to have trouble with the kidneys. At times my back got weak and lame and there was a dull aching through the small of it. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage, causing me to get up at night. I used Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Johnson & Co.'s Drug store and they have never failed to relieve me."

The above statement was given August 26, 1915 and on November 5, 1920, Mr. Younger added: "I still think Doan's Kidney Pills are the best medicine made for kidney trouble."

ASK WHAT YE WILL.—If ye abide in Me, and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.—John 15:7.

New Tariff Making Good

The dogmatic assertions of opponents of the Fordney-Cumber tariff law that it would paralyze our export trade have been absolutely dissipated by events which have transpired since the passage of the law, and which evince no disposition to be of transitory character. Secretary Hoover presented figures to the president and his cabinet recently showing that imports are increasing enormously, and exports are holding their own fairly well. Secretary Weeks stated to the Cabinet, on information received from port appraisers, that a hundred vessels loaded with European commodities were enroute to Boston, where the storage space of the port is already sadly overtaxed. The situation is such that we may soon expect to witness a large export of our gold surplus.

In presenting his survey of our foreign trade Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce called attention in his annual report to the gold situation of the world, the heavy drain of the metal to America having contributed to the instability of foreign currencies, "not only by the diminution of their essential guarantees, but, also, by the fluctuation of exchange involved in liquidating trade balances in this fashion."

"Our gold stocks," says the report, "amount to about $3,077,000,000. Of this, the minimum legal necessities at the moment for assurances to our currency and credits amount roughly to about $1,000,000,000, but for a 60 percent reserve of security we would require about $2,400,000,000. Therefore, our surplus amounts to somewhere over $700,000,000. While this is an asset it, nevertheless, would be more advantageous to us if it were in active use abroad. The automatic tendencies in our international trade and financial relations are, however, setting strongly toward rectification of this whole situation, without artificial action. There is a steady increase in the ratio of imports over exports of goods, as indicated by the decrease in the average monthly balances in our favor over the last 21 years. . . . It would, at least, appear that the invisible exchange is able to take care of commodity balances and that we are reaching the end of the gold import stage of war readjustments. The theoretical assumption that the new tariff will so diminish our imports as to strangle the buying power of foreign countries for our exports does not seem borne out by a critical examination of the actual factors involved."

Mr. Hoover estimates the invisible exchange against this country as not less than $1,000,000,000 in 1920 and $1,400,000,000 in the fiscal year ended June 30th, last. It was made up of money spent by American tourists abroad, absorbent here of foreign loans, remittances of immigrants, losses by Americans in speculation in foreign currencies, money paid to foreign shipping interests for carrying and insuring our goods, etc. etc.

That the new tariff law has stimulated, instead of discouraging exports is evidenced by the fact that our exports totaled $371,000,000 for November, the second month after the passage of the law, and a record month since Europe succeeded in replenishing stocks exhausted by the war. The opponents of the present tariff law have not a leg to stand on in support of their argument that the law would create a Chinese wall against foreign trade. The law has a flexible provision to take care of too great an influx of foreign goods, and it now seems almost certain that by 1924 the new law will have proved itself the best yet and will give administration opponents no campaign ammunition.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mrs. Frank Brown gave a delightful surprise party Saturday afternoon at her home in east Seventh street in honor of her daughter Juanita's thirteenth birthday. Seven little girls were present and many lovely presents were received. The dining room was beautifully decorated in red and white and lovely little favors tied with red and white ribbons were given to each guest, after they found them hidden away in various places in the house. Delicious refreshments were served and the afternoon was enjoyed with games and music.

OBITUARY

John Brown, born Sept. 17th, 1851—Died Dec. 4th, 1922.

Our friend and neighbor who so recently received the summons to "come home" and who lies before us sleeping so quietly and peacefully had endeared himself to all who knew him by his courage, patience, cheerfulness and interest in the welfare of others. His affliction borne so bravely for almost 24 years increased his sympathy for those suffering from illness or trouble, he did not allow himself to grow morbid however, but rejoiced in the good fortune or innocent pleasures of others. He tried to keep in touch with the events of the day and much of the current literature, and it was due to the untiring devotion of his beloved wife that the pages of many publications were spread before him. His mind's eyes. His habits of industry made work of some kind a seeming necessity and he was busy whenever his strength or weather conditions would permit. A neat and conveniently arranged cabinet in among the household articles that attest as to his patience and skill.

Mr. Brown was the only child of Charlotte and Daniel Brown, being born near Liberty, Union County, Sept. 17th, 1851, reaching the 71st year of his age last Sept. He attended school and church at the little town of Billingsville, and during service held by Henry R. Pritchard, he united with the Christian church of that place. 50 years ago he moved with his parents to the Fairview property where he had since lived. Previous to that time his mother, an excellent Christian woman, affectionately known to her many friends as "Aunt Lorna" lost her eye sight after intense suffering from neuralgia of the optic nerve. Her husband and son, assisted later by the son's family did all that could be done to comfort and cheer her during the 40 years of blindness that preceded her death which followed that of her husband.

Five years after coming to Fairview our friend was married to Miss Augusta Kreyenhagen of Riverside, Cincinnati, Ohio. And never was a man blessed with a more faithful helpmate. Two daughters, Lizzie May and Emma came as precious gifts to this home. The former however, died June 21st, 1884 leaving Emma now Mrs. Raymond Bowles to be the comfort and stay of her parents. Her efforts have been loyally supported by her husband and two young daughters, Vera and Mary Elizabeth. Mr. Brown changed his church membership with his residence and was an attendant at the Fairview Christian church whenever his health permitted.

He was a member of the Red Men Wawasa Tribe No. 193 and took great pleasure in the work and associations. His general health failed about 3 years ago having terminated 6 weeks ago into an almost helpless condition. Although every effort was made to sustain and prolong his life the death angel very quietly and gently bore his spirit away Thursday morning leaving lonely hearts that long for his presence. But the same Saviour that said "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest," also went with Mary and Martha when death entered their home.

O deem not they are blest alone, Whose lives a peaceful tenor keep; For God, who pities man, hath shown A blessing for the eyes that weep. For God has marked each sorrowing day, And numbered every secret tear, And heaven's long age of bliss shall pay, For all his children suffer here."

FANNING WITH ARRELL

New York, Jan. 8.—Ty Cobb's entrance into the 400 batting class last year by an official edict from Ban Johnson recalls several incidents of the past, when the quest for a few additional points in the averages caused more or less tricky maneuvers.

The famous contest between Nap Lajoie and Cobb several years ago, when an automobile was offered for the batting leader in both leagues, is one of the most quoted. In one of the games late in the season when they were running neck and neck, Lajoie got a flock of hits on bunts down the third base line. The guardian of the hot corner was playing way back in left field.

Another amusing story is told of the race this year in the National League. Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, was anxious to get into the 400 class and the St. Louis writers traveling with the team in Chicago were just as anxious to have their favorite make the mark.

Before the last game in Chicago, one of the St. Louis writers approached the official scorekeeper and in a round about way refreshed his memory on the rule that the batter should be favored in case of doubt that Rogers was a nice boy and that he wanted to bat .400, etc.

The official scorer admitted that Hornsby was entitled to consideration.

The first time up Rogers knocked the third baseman over with a drive. The second time he smashed a liner to center and the third time he doubled, whereupon the official scorer remarked to the St. Louis scribe: "Who in the —told you that bird needed any help?"

If the American League president

fears that the judgment of a sport writer as an official scorer might be influenced by personal feeling or partisanship, it might not be a bad idea to have his umpires give the decisions on a questionable hit.

Squire Charley Ebbets learned since the close of the season that Brooklyn has a ball club. It was only a suspicion until the Squire asked waivers on seventeen of the Brooklyn players and everyone of them was claimed by other major league clubs. It must have pleased the squire, even if they were tagged a dollar a dozen.

General sympathy has been extended to Arthur Fletcher, who has been imposed upon, with the management of the Philadelphia Nationals. Fletcher is a popular player and he deserved a better fate.

Philadelphia papers say that Fletcher should have demanded a long contract, but it is hard to see how any one but the kaiser should be penalized with such a job for more than a year.

Notre Dame's 1922 football eleven, might have been called a team of captains. Five of the regulars were varsity leaders in other sports. In addition to Captain Carberry, the grid leader, there were Paul Castner, captain of the baseball team and twice captain of the hockey team; Gus Desh, captain of the track team and the world's record holder for the 440-yard hurdles; Mickey Kane, captain of the baseball team and Neil Flynn, captain of the hockey team. Twelve other men on the squad won letters in other sports.

Kane and Castner had several major league offers for baseball last year, but they decided to continue through the university.

TO MEET GREENSBURG "Y"

Arlington A. C.'s Will Take on Fast Aggregation Tuesday Night

The Arlington Athletic Club will meet the Greensburg Y. M. C. A. basketball team Tuesday evening at the Arlington gymnasium. This team has in its line-up R. Marlow, L. Marlow, C. Marlow, P. Meek, E. Clark, A. Richards, and L. Palmer, most of last year's Sandusky team.

The Marlow boys need no introduction to the Arlington community. This same bunch of players and the A. C.'s fought a real battle last year at Arlington; the latter defeating them by one point in an overtime game, and were fortunate to win.

This game is expected to be a close fast one. The A. C.'s are in fair condition with the exception of Tillison who is still on the sick list. A large crowd is expected as this is the first and probably only appearance of the Marlow brothers at the Arlington gymnasium this season.

MAY AMEND LIQUOR LAWS

Bill Is Planned To Make Second Offense A Prison Term

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Bootleggers, still operators and other violators of the prohibition law would suffer a serious blow under the provision bills prepared for presentation to the legislature today.

The bills are being sponsored by the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana and would make a second offense a felony instead of a misdemeanor punishable with a prison term of one to two years and a minimum fine of $200.

AMUSEMENTS

Band At The Princess

There are three great fistie battles in Jack Holt's new Paramount picture, which will be the feature at the Princess today and Tuesday. Holt's new Paramount picture, "While Sat an Sleeps," no shadow-sparring, but the regular hit-and-no-miss stuff. The picture will tend to make Mr. Holt an even more athletic figure than he has previously been, for he already has quite an enviable reputation as a general all around horse-man.

A special attraction will also be given at the Princess tonight and Tuesday, with the appearance of Miss Joy Marshall and her society Seven Band.

In the appearance of Miss Joy Marshall and her society Seven Band you receive one-half hour of pure "Joy." Miss Marshall is, accredited with having the nicest personality on the American stage and she certainly lives up to this reputation during this engagement putting over her song numbers with more pep than has ever been seen in Rushville before. She will truly delight you. Billie Mackie, violinist, is certainly a wizard insyncopation; you'll like his style. Fred Pharmer, the comedy cornet soloist, is a knock out, rendering several special numbers. The organization as a whole is wonderful.

NO CHANGE IN LAW

Reports to the contrary there has been no change in the law regulating taking fur bearing animals, and it is lawful to hunt, trap, kill and pursue them in this state until February 10, George N. Mannfeld, chief of the fish and game division of the state conservation department, says. Many people have written the conservation department recently wishing to know if this law had been changed.

TO MEET TUESDAY

St. Mary's school basketball team will play the Methodist church team at St. Mary's church hall, Tuesday evening. Two teams composed of smaller boys, one of the teams representing St. Mary's school, will meet in a curtain raiser.

SPORT PROHIBITION TOPIC

Sons of Veterans to Discuss Elimination of Games Memorial Day

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Prohibition of commercialized games and sports on Memorial Day, including the annual 500 mile automobile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway, will be one of the main subjects of discussion at the midwinter meeting January 27 and 28 of the Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary here, it was announced today.

Organizations of ex-service men are now seeking to prohibit the races and other sports on Memorial Day by legislative action.

Indianapolis Woman Declares Tanlac Completely Overcame Stomach Trouble of 15 Years Standing

"For fifteen years, I have suffered from indigestion and have taken all kinds of medicines, but I have never found anything to benefit me like Tanlac has," recently declared Mrs. Mary A. Day, a highly respected resident of 6524 Bellfontaine St., Indianapolis, Ind.

"After my meals, food would sour on my stomach and cause awful gas pains, bloating and smothering sensations. At times, I thought my heart would actually stop beating. It interfered with my rest at night so much that I was hardly ever able to get to sleep until midnight, and I was often unable to do my housework."

"A few days after I started on Tanlac, I noticed an improvement, and I was soon eating heartily and without feeling any distress. Since then, I have taken the medicine occasionally and it tones up my appetite and digestion every time. Tanlac is splendid and I believe it will overcome any kind of stomach trouble."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists.

Forty-two out of the total number defective in Jackson school were children whose parents are not able to pay for corrections. The parents of twelve of the 42 refused to let the Child Welfare association do anything for their children, the excuse being that they did not believe in surgery, or thought the child would outgrow the trouble.

The remaining 30 are being cared for by the association. On the advice of family physicians, 3 have been taken to Indianapolis hospitals for treatment; 3 others have been treated at Indianapolis clinics to ward off blindness; 5 have had surgical operations; 7 have had dentistry work done; 1 is on the waiting list at the Robert Long hospital to undergo an operation for double hernia.

The others are being cared for by the association as fast as possible.

Who Took the Vial From the Box?

CHAPTER VIII

Like a man who feels himself suddenly seized by the throat, yet who struggles for life, Sinclair cast one heartrending look toward the conservatory, then heavily demanded:

"Why were you out of your room? Why did they have to look for you? And who was the person who uttered the scream?"

She conformed him sadly.

"I was not in the room because I was troubled by my discovery. I think I had some idea of returning the box to the shelf from which I had taken it. At all events, I found myself on the little staircase in the rear when that cry rang through the house. I do not know who uttered it; I only know that it did not spring from my lips?"

"It was your aunt!" he whispered. "It was she who took the vial out of the box; who put it to her own lips; who shrieked when she felt her vitals gripped. Had you stayed you would have known this. Can't you say so? Don't you think so? Why do you look at me with those incredulous eyes?"

"Because you must not believe a lie. Because you are too good a man to be sacrificed. It was a younger throat than my aunt's which gave utterance to that shriek. Mr. Sinclair, be advised; do not be married tomorrow!"

Meanwhile I was pacing the hall without in a delirium of suspense. Suddenly I heard a hoarse cry break from within and saw the door fly open and Dorothy come hurrying out. She shrieked when she saw me and soon was up the stairs and out of sight. I rushed into the library.

I found Sinclair sitting before a table with his head buried in his hands. In an instant I knew that our positions were again reversed. I dared and laid my hand on his shoulder.

He shuddered but did not look up, and it was minutes before he spoke. Then it all came in a rush.

"Fool! fool that I was! And I saw that she was consumed by fright the moment it became plain that I was intent upon having some conversation with Dorothy. Her fingers where they gripped my arm must have left marks behind them. But I saw only womanly nervousness where a man less blind would have detected guilt. Walter, I wish that the mere scent of this empty flask would kill. Then I should not have to reenter that conservatory door—or look again in her face, or—"

I asked with all the calmness possible:

"What is all this mystery? Why have your suspicions returned to Gilbertine?"

"Dorothy had the empty box; but the vial! the vial!—that had been taken by a previous hand. Do you remember the white silk train which Mr. Armstrong saw slipping from this room? I can not talk, Walter; my duty leads me there."

He pointed toward the conservatory. I sank into a chair. He advanced to the conservatory door.

But in another instant I was on my feet. I could hear him rushing about among the pines. Presently I heard his voice shout out the wild cry:

"She is gone! I forgot there was another door communicating with the hall."

I entered where he stood gazing down at an empty seat. Never shall I forget his face. To him this flight bore but one interpretation—guilt.

I found my way to my own room alone. I fell asleep very soon after, and did not wake till roused by a knock at my door. On opening it I confronted Sinclair, looking haggard and unkempt. As he entered the first clear notes of the breakfast bell could be heard rising up from the lower hall.

"I have not slept," he said. "I have been walking the hall all night, listening by spells at her door. God forgive me, but I have said nothing to any one of what has made this affair an awful tragedy to me! Do you think I did wrong? I waited to give Dorothy a chance. Why should I not show the same consideration to Gilbertine?"

"You should!"

Be sure, when you give it to her, that she will have an opportunity of reading it alone. I shall request the use of one of the little reception-rooms this morning. Let her come there if she is so impelled. She will find a friend as well as a judge."

"I endeavored to express sympathy, urge patience and suggest hope. But he had no ear for words."

I found the lower hall alive with eager guests and a few outsiders. News of the sad event was slowly making its way through the avenue and some of the Armstrong's nearest neighbors had left their breakfast tables to hear the particulars. Mr. Armstrong was nowhere in sight. For him the breakfast waited. I remained near the staircase waiting for some one to descend who could give me news concerning Miss Murray. But little Miss Lane would be sure to appear, she would listen to my questions and give me the answer I needed for the carrying out of Sinclair's wishes. But before her light foot-fall was heard, three men came down, one after the other, followed by Miss Armstrong. Two of them were the physicians who had been called in the night.

As Mr. Armstrong ushered them down the hall and out of the front door, many were the curious glances which followed them.

This filled me with a vague alarm. I was closely watching the door behind which Mr. Armstrong had vanished when it suddenly opened and I perceived that he had been writing a telegram. As he gave it to one of the servants he made a gesture and the summons rang out for breakfast. Young and old turned toward the dining-room, but the host did not enter with them. Before the younger of his guests could reach his side he had slid into the room which was set apart for the display of Gilbertine's wedding presents. Instantly I lost all inclination for breakfast and lingered about in the hall. Mr. Armstrong approached from the side hall, and inquired if Mr. Sinclair had come down yet.

I assured him that I had not seen him and did not think he meant to come to breakfast, adding that he had been very much affected by the affairs of the night.

"I am sorry, but there is a question I must ask him immediately. It is about a little Italian trinket which I am told he displayed to the ladies yesterday afternoon."

100 WAYS To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

If I Could Solder—

NEARLY every family needs some soldering done. Most of them don't know how to do it themselves, or where to go for the work. If I could solder, I would tell people I could mend their pots and pans, rain pipes and a score of other things.

This would bring work to me and assure me of a nice little income, so I would tell them at once. No use waiting for money. I would tell them with Daily Republican Want Ads.

WEEKLY STORE NEWS

From ALLEN'S

Business for 1923 has started off with a rush and we are confident that a year of prosperity is in store for all who put forth their best efforts.

Did you ever buy an unknown brand of goods at a supposed to be bargain price and find that you had been stung? It is our policy to buy the best goods to be had. Our lines are standard and we sell at a standard price. We do not try to make our customers believe that we are selling them a fancy article for the price of a common grade of the same article.

Take canned peaches for example, we have peaches for 20c, 25c, 30c and 35c per can and all good value for the price but we do not try and make you believe that our 20c grade is of 30c quality.

We have a splendid line of prunes. The markets have advanced considerably since our stock was bought and we are selling larger sizes at our present prices than we would be able to if bought at today's market.

You will always find a splendid display of fruits and vegetables at our store and sold at fair and honest prices.

Loyalty Flour is proving to be the best flour that we have ever sold. For a flour that was never heard of in Rush county until about 30 days ago the business we have already established is remarkable. Single bags sell for $1.15. We will quote barrel prices on request.

FORMER MEMBERS WERE REINSTATED

Veterinarians From This City Have Returned From State Veterinary Association

DR. DRAGOO ON COMMITTEE

Executive Board Decided To Rein-
state Dr. Julian, Dr. Craig And
Dr Kixmiller, As Members.

Reinstatement of Dr. J. L. Kix-
miller, ex-president of the association, and Dr. B. W. Craig dean of the Indiana Veterinary college, created a storm of applause from practically

all of the members of the association.

Early last March, the members of the executive committee composed of
Dr. A. B. Nivin, Crawfordsville, Ind.,
Dr. George M. Reynolds, Converse,
Ind., Dr. W. B. Massie, Boston Ind.,
Dr. C. L. Boor, Muncie, Ind., Dr. D.
D. Dragoo, Rushville Ind., and Dr.
Chas. E. Reed, Dunkirk, Ind.,
Dr. E. E. Cunningham, Valparaiso,
Ind., and Dr. C. E. Mammert, Young,
America, Ind., were called in special session by the secretary of the association. And during this session
Drs. Julien, Craig and Kixmiller were expelled indefinitely from the association, supposedly from political animosity resulting from the appointment of Dr. R. C. Julien to the office of state veterinary to succeed
Dr. L. E. Northrup and for favoring the farm federation in legislation. However no charges were made public other than that of "the violation of professional ethics." It was also claimed these men accused were never given an opportunity to appear before the committee in behalf of their defense. And when the action taken was placed before the association for its acceptance, a stormy session followed.

The association members were almost unanimous in condemning the executive board for the hasty debate and unconstitutional action
against these men and after a hot debate a number of various resolutions designed to return these ousted
members to their places were greeted with shouting, clapping of hands and stamping of feet which the president had difficulty in controlling.
From these resolutions arose a motion that the executive committee
rescind its action and these men be reinstated without further delay and that it be published in the press as

had been done when they had been ousted. This motion was finally modified by dropping the word "reinstated" as the members contended
that they had "really never been out of the association." This motion passed almost unanimously.

Election of officers was held on Wednesday, electing Dr. M. W. Scott
of Vincennes, Ind., as president, Dr.
R. H. Boyd of Indianapolis, secretary, and Dr. G. H. Roberts of Purdue University, treasurer. Following this, several good papers were read and a number of good lectures
given. Among the prominent speakers were Dr. L. A. Merilat of Chicago, Drs. R. A. Craig and G. H.
Roberts and Mr. Hansen of Pur-
due University, Dr. T. A. Sigler, Greencastle, Ind., W. B. Massie Boston, Ind., Chas. W. Jewett Indianapolis, Ind. Lively and interesting

lectures. A number of interesting discussions followed, most of the clinics was held on Thursday at the Indiana Veterinary college. Veterinarians present from Rushville were
Dr. Fred Catt, Dr. D. D. Dragoo,
Dr. A. A. Mull and Dr. R. J. Hall.
